PALS is a place you can ask questions, talk to other parents, and make connections. Our workshops are carefully designed to focus on critical areas of social/emotional development, educational development and family development. Each time you attend a PALS workshop, you and your child will receive a new children's book to add to your home library. Each workshop also allows for special individual time with your child and the opportunity to participate in a fun craft activity together.

PALS is a wonderful way to get involved in your child's education! We encourage ALL parents, guardians and approved family members to attend.

Your child looks forward to spending time with you and we hope to see you there!
